SO MUCH MORE THAN A HEADACHE
Understanding Migraine through Literature
Edited by Kathleen J. O’Shea

Preface xi
Acknowledgments
In Bed • Joan Didion

PART I: WHAT IT FEELS LIKE
Introduction

WARNING SIGNS
Migraine • Linda Pastan
Patterns • Oliver Sacks
Down the Rabbit Hole • Paula Kamen
The Almanac Branch • Bradford Morrow
The Woman Lit by Fireflies • Jim Harrison
Sun and Migraine • Muriel Nelson
The Lightning in My Eyes • Jean Hanson
Migraine • Brian Tierney
Migraine: Aura and Aftermath • Claudia Emerson

THE HANGOVER
On His Heid-ake • William Dunbar
Void and Compensation (Migraine) • Michael Morse

PART II: WHAT PEOPLE DON’T SEE:
THE INVISIBILITY OF MIGRAINE
Introduction
The Head-Ache, or an Ode to Health • Jane Cave Winscom
The Hours • Michael Cunningham
Pain Has an Element of Blank • Emily Dickinson
An Uncommon Pain: Living with the Mystery of Headache • Sallie Tisdale
Migraine: The Eternal Return • Jack Sholl
Hoofbeats in the Head • Edward Lowbury
I Know Upon Awakening • Kathleen J. O’Shea

PART III: IT’S JUST A HEADACHE?
Introduction
A General Feeling of Disorder • Oliver Sacks
Migraine • Tobias Wolff
Six Explanations for Migraine • Lisa Gluskin Stonestreet
Misalliance • Anita Brookner
The Migraine Mafia • Maia Sepp

PART IV: IT’S A LIFELONG, FULL-TIME JOB
Introduction
An Anatomy of Migraine • Amy Clampitt
A Brain Wider Than the Sky • Andrew Levy
Dear Migraine • Gail Mazur
Giving up the Ghost • Hilary Mantel
The Migraine Mafia • Maia Sepp
Written the First Morning of the Author’s Bathing at Teignmouth, for the Head-Ache • Jane Cave Winscom
Rachel’s House of Pain from Claire’s Head • Catherine Bush
Arms at Rest • Siri Hustvedt

PART V: WHEN IT’S GONE . . .
Introduction
On Being Ill • Virginia Woolf
Deliverance • Kevin Crossley-Holland
A Brain Wider Than the Sky • Andrew Levy
The Hours • Michael Cunningham
Morning • Roy Fuller
Night and Sunrise • Alan Brownjohn
The Night-Rider • Gavin Ewart
Half-Skull Days • Anna Leahy

Permissions Acknowledgments

THE KENT STATE UNIVERSITY PRESS
Available from www.KentStateUniversityPress.com, 800-247-6553, or wherever books are sold.